        - 6.1.2. Michael Stewart read a written statement on this topic shared by Shannon McCarty.
            - 6.1.2.1. The statement read “Dear Academic Senate, I apologize for not being able to attend. My flight schedule did not work in my favor, but I look forward to joining the next meeting. I understand there are questions related to the LTI overlay for Canvas. I know that I shared several updates during our last L&I Division meeting, but this information may not have reached everyone.

The overlay is still in the very early stages of development, and once it is ready, I can schedule a time for Tech to provide a preview. As I discussed at our Instructional meeting, we will involve stakeholders before making any updates to the faculty-facing view. I have designated the Chairs to provide input. Once the current LTI is ready, it will only be launched with the Gen AI program. Allowing us time to hear from students and instructors."

6.1.2.2. A faculty asked whether the resolution that just passed would reinforce the need for Senate review & feedback on these proposed tool integrations.

6.1.2.3. Another faculty asked if a smaller Senate subcommittee should be formed to review technology add-ons?

6.1.2.4. Elizabeth Biddlecome & Denise Temal offered to co-chair this subcommittee. Trey Glazatov, Brandy Weaver, and Michael Dudas offered to join the subcommittee. An announcement will be made in the Academic Senate Slack channel to identify additional faculty volunteers.
